

Winter LIBRARY NEWS 2022

World Chocolate Day

Celebrated since 2009, World Chocolate Day, occurs around the world on 7th July.

Do you enjoy indulging in the occasional chocolate? Or is it an everyday treat? What is your favourite type?

Derived from the seed of the tropical Theobroma cacao tree. Grown in various regions of South America, Cacao has been cultivated for at least three millennia!

Beginning in pre-Hispanic times, consumed as a crushed up thick and bitter beverage it progressed with the help of the Swiss adding milk powder to the cocoa, which created milk chocolate!

However you like to consume your chocolate, it is a definite favourite here amongst the library staff. There are many items available on the library catalogue on the origins, recipes and creation of this amazing treat.

Just ask one of the library staff next time you're in to help you find something. Or you can find titles about chocolate at this link...

Cats work like this

David St John Thomas & Gareth St John Thomas

World Cat Day is the 8th August

Many people believe that cats were domesticated by the Egyptians, but studies have concluded that kitties adopted us well before then. One study estimated cats became domesticated 12,000 years ago in the Middle East. It is believed that all modern house cats descended from the Middle Eastern wildcat, Felis silvestris.

Historians believe that cats domesticated themselves where humans settled. As farming improved, and humans stored grain, mice made themselves a nuisance, and cats, seeing an opportunity for an easy meal, intervened. From there, they probably found a warm fire, and a cosy lap, and the rest is history!

The Egyptians revered cats. Ancient Romans saw them as a symbol of liberty. In the Middle-Ages of Europe, cats became associated with witchcraft, and many were killed; which ironically, some historians believed led to a greater surge in the black plague!

If the viral sensations of cats like Grumpy Cat (Tardar Sauce), and movie cats such as Mrs. Norris (Mr Filch's cat in Harry Potter) are anything to go by, cats are once again revered as cute, furry (sometimes furless), arrogant, self-centred, adorable fur-babies!

You can search our catalogue for more books about cats here: <https://bit.ly/39OkABj>

WINTER WARMERS

Winter is perfect weather for indulging in those yummy comfort foods like pies, casseroles, soups and breads. That means it's the perfect time to get the recipe books out and turn the oven on!

Whether you're craving something warm and savoury or something decadent and delicious, your library is the right place to look for a new favourite recipe. Check out our magazine range too for a great new recipe to warm you up!

Better Homes and Gardens recently published a list of Australia's 35 best comfort food recipes on their website - you'll find it here: <https://bit.ly/3la9dAv>

The top ten looks like this:

1. Apple berry crumble
2. Aussie meat pie
3. Beef & dark ale stew
4. Baked cauliflower cheese with crispy breadcrumbs
5. Bolognese Mac-n-Cheese
6. Vertical potato bake
7. Potato bake with sour cream, brie cheese and chives
8. Baked custard tarts
9. Baked meatballs with fresh tomato sauce
10. Self-saucing sticky date and banana pudding.

Did you spot your favourite dish on the list?

Looking for something new to read, watch or listen to? We always have lots of new items appearing on our shelves in both of our locations: Gawler Civic Centre and Evanston Gardens.

Australian Homespun

MAGAZINE HIGHLIGHT

Do you love to craft? Are you a beginner or an expert? Either way, Australian Homespun offers you step-by-step instructions to create projects using a variety of techniques to learn. These projects are lovingly designed by passionate craftspeople and can be an excellent source of inspiration for your next creative project!

The current issue of Australian Homespun's theme is Winter Warmers. As the name suggests, this issue contains projects designed to help keep you warm this winter. You can learn how to crochet a Jardin Throw blanket, knit a rugged and warm 'main man cardigan' or even create a beginner-friendly wholecloth quilt.

What a perfect way to spend a cold winter's day! You can even create your own cosy scarf using a tapestry crochet technique (which you can learn about in this issue).

So sit down, relax and get your craft on!

Discover the current issue and our entire back-catalogue of Australian Homespun magazine here: <https://bit.ly/3b7qKNc>

Throughout the month of July, the library is inviting everyone to donate a Jar Gift. It could be a jar of jam, a jar with the ingredients for a recipe, DIY hand scrub, a jar of buttons, dried herbs, a candle, anything in a jar.

At the end of the month everyone who contributed gets to choose from the collected JarGifts and take one home.

Each participant also goes in the raffle to win a basket of eco-friendly plastic free products.

Jar Gift Swap

How do you play?

1. Donate a Jar Gift at either of our library locations:
 - Gawler Civic Centre 91 Murray St, Gawler
 - Evanston Gardens Library 65 Angle Vale Rd, Evanston Gardens
2. Name your jar gift and list all the ingredients on the gift tag.
3. Fill in your raffle ticket to go in the draw for a basket of eco-friendly plastic free products.
4. Come along to our Plastic Free July - Get Clean presentation on July 28th to select your Jar Gift Swap.
(or organise another time to collect your jar if you can't make it on the night)

CRIME SCENE DO NOT CROSS

CRIME, THRILLERS & MYSTERIES

EVENING READS

Winter time means we are inside more often, especially during the cold evenings. So there's so much more time to cosy up with a mystery, thriller or crime drama. Our catalogue has hundreds of titles that fit this description plus more to be found in our true crime and ghost stories section.

Do you follow a specific author who writes in this genre? Karin Slaughter, Clive Cussler, James Patterson, Fiona McIntosh, Lee Child, Robert Ludlum, Lynda La Plante, Stuart Woods, David Baldacci to name only a handful! There are new authors emerging all the time to add to this list of talented writers who can weave a tale that will keep you on the edge of your seat while you read. There are also many subgenres that fit into the above categories. You never know what you'll find!

When looking through our shelves our fantastic technical services staff are now adding an extra line on the spine labels in our fiction collection to indicate whether the book is CRIME, THRILLER or MYSTERY to make it easier when you're browsing for your next read.

The library staff on desk will always be happy to assist you if you'd like more help to find something.

WEEKLY WIND DOWN

Crochet

Winter is the perfect time to chill out on the couch and snuggle under a crocheted blanket - but even better than that - it's the perfect time to create a crocheted blanket. There are even more benefits to making crochet items than there is to snuggling under them.

In 2018 Dr. Pippa Burns and Dr. Rosemary Van Der Mer with the University of Wollongong Australia undertook a study of 8000 people about the benefits of crochet. They found that 90% of participants said that they felt calmer when crocheting and 82% said the hobby made them feel happier. A full 70% of respondents said that crochet improved their memory.

Mindfulness plays a big part in making crochet so relaxing, as crocheters pay attention to their stitch count, and the way the hook and yarn are working. Crochet has even been suggested as a form of therapy for people with dementia or obsessive compulsive disorder.

We have heaps of lovely items in our collection to get you started with crochet, but be warned - you might get hooked!

Check out crochet items in our catalogue by scanning the QR code.

STAFF PICKS!

The British Library has researched these words for thingamajig.

What's a 'thingamajig' in different languages?

Habi-jabi (Bengali)
Huppeldepup (Dutch)
Dingsbums (German)
Naninani (Japanese)
Zamazingo (Turkish)

An oxymoron is a figure of speech, usually one or two words, in which seemingly contradictory terms appear side by side. For example:

- original copy
- awfully good
- crash landing
- ill health
- magic realism
- plastic glasses
- student teacher
- unbiased opinion
- and one of our favourites
- true fiction

Better Reading shared this word and I'm sure we've all been tempted at some point.

Book smack
 /noun/
 The urge to smack someone who interrupts your reading.

The Goodwill Librarian shared this commentary on the English language.

- ENGLISH IS THE ONLY LANGUAGE WHERE YOU DRIVE IN PARKWAYS AND PARK IN DRIVEWAYS.
- IT'S ALSO THE ONLY LANGUAGE WHERE YOU RECITE IN A PLAY AND PLAY IN A RECITAL.
- YOUR FINGERS HAVE FINGERTIPS BUT YOUR TOES DON'T HAVE TOETIPS.
- YET, YOU CAN TIPTOE BUT NOT TIPPINGER.
- THE WORD QUEUE IS JUST A Q FOLLOWED BY FOUR SILENT LETTERS.
- JAIL AND PRISON ARE SYNONYMS. BUT JAILER AND PRISONER ARE ANTONYMS.
- WHEN YOU TRANSPORT SOMETHING BY CAR, IT'S CALLED A SHIPMENT. BUT WHEN YOU TRANSPORT SOMETHING BY SHIP, IT'S CALLED CARGO.

BOOK REVIEWS

Picked up any good books lately? Keen to share how fantastic it is? We'd love to hear from you! Help out a fellow library user and send us your book reviews for us to add here in future editions of Shelf Talk.

Quilt As You Go – Carolyn FORSTER

Full of useful information about fourteen different quilting techniques (yes, there are that many!), I enjoyed this book so much that I've ordered my own copy. Some of the methods are sewn by hand, some by machine, but all avoid the wrestling match involved with squeezing a full-sized quilt under a domestic sewing machine. Excellent explanations and illustrations!

Beatrix Bakes – Natalie PAULL

“Beatrix Bakes” is a very small bakery in North Melbourne. This cookbook showcases many of their popular recipes for you to bake at home. The illustrations show creations that yes, you would expect to find in a rather nice coffee shop, but on reading the recipes they are all achievable. I'm going to try the Sweet Butter Crust (haven't worked out what I want to fill it with yet!) and the Two-bite Jammy Tartlets. Yum!

#BookTok

Are you a BookTokker? Clever TikTok users have created the hashtag to discuss and promote all things books and literature!

You'll find the creators using the hashtag #BookTok are covering all sorts of genres such as; young adult fiction, young adult fantasy, romance novels, LGBTQIA+ literature, and books written by people of colour. The videos review, discuss, and have fun with the books they read.

If you're looking for something good to read and have a TikTok account, you should definitely check out the hashtag and see what's hot. The titles featured are not always new with some being many years since being first published. BookTokkers have even been known to impact the publishing industry and book sales with their video content.

If you're wondering how that might affect your library, we've got some great news! We are busily purchasing and processing BookTok titles for our libraries and creating a new display for these trending titles. If you don't know what we're talking about, type "BookTok" into the library catalogue and let us do the hard work for you. You may be surprised to find some older titles that have gained a pop cult following like "All the light we cannot see" by Anthony Doerr and "We were liars" by E.Lockhart. There are some new titles to immerse yourself in such as "A little life" by Hanya Yanagihara and "Verity" by Colleen Hoover.

And if you're an eBook reader or eAudiobook listener our digital catalogue also has a new list full of BookTok titles for you to discover anytime you like! Enjoy!

Here are some activities from a few of the books on our Plastic Free July display table. All available to borrow.

OFF THE SHELF

- Walk to school if you can. Suggest starting a walking group, with a roster of adults to lead the way. Use a scooter or skateboard.

- Walk, pedal, scoot or roll whenever possible to local places like shops, the swimming pool or the park.

- Using the car less is good for your health. Everyone is healthier when they get more exercise.

I AM NOT A TOILET ROLL... I'M A CASTLE!

1
Cut rectangles from the top of your toilet roll to create turrets.

2
Repeat Step 1 on two more toilet rolls. You could make some towers shorter by trimming the tops off first.

3
Paint all the toilet rolls in your favourite colour and leave them to one side to dry.

4
To make flags, cut triangles out of colourful paper and tape them to lollipop sticks or wooden toothpicks. When your castle is dry, tape the flags to the top of your towers.

5
Cut three windows out of blue paper, and one door out of brown paper or card.

6
Next, tape all three towers together, before sticking on your windows and door.

I AM NOT A TOILET ROLL... I'M A HUGE CASTLE!

You don't have to stop at just three toilet rolls. Keep taping on more and more painted toilet roll towers until you make a super grand castle! You could stick all of your towers onto a painted cardboard box, like this. Have fun designing lots of different door and window shapes as you go.

Boys and girls will love learning about all the heavy equipment used to build roads, skyscrapers, and bridges.

Welcome, children! Nangga! Nangga! Yakarti! Tonight will be our Ceremony. Our family gathers as the fire burns. The smoke rises up as we take it in turns ... Then clapsticks tap -- one, two, three -- but a stick is missing! Where could it be?

Helen Scales introduces children to the wonders of shells through the art of observation. Using a question-and-answer format, she explores the incredible diversity of shells around the world and showcases the environments molluscs inhabit. From what a shell's shape, colour, or texture can reveal about its inhabitant, to where shells are found get up close with nature to observe its wonders.

CLEVER KIDS

Children are already great scientists without even knowing it.

The Little Bang Discovery Club® is a fun-filled 4-session hands-on program combines everyday objects and experiences with genuine scientific enquiry methods that children and their accompanying parents will thoroughly enjoy. Best of all, everyone will have a Discovery Box & Book to take home between sessions with a load of exciting items and activities to explore.

Fingerprint Analysis

Fingerprint Facts

- Fingerprints last a lifetime and will grow back, even if worn down
- Identical twins have different fingerprints
- Fingerprints can be taken from finger tips, palms of the hands, soles of the feet and the toes

Shade each of the boxes below with a pencil (a standard HB pencil will do).

Pick a hand and rub each finger in the boxes above to get some of the graphite from your pencil onto your finger tips. Place each finger on a small piece of sellotape and you should obtain a nice clear fingerprint! Do this for each finger and stick your sellotape fingerprints in the boxes below. Label each finger as being a 'loop', 'whorl' or 'arch'.

When you put sherbet on your tongue, the saliva in your mouth causes the citric acid crystals to dissolve. The citric acid reacts with the bicarbonate soda and produces carbon dioxide gas. The bubbles of carbon dioxide make the fizzy feeling on your tongue.

- INGREDIENTS
- ½ teaspoon citric acid
 - 1 tablespoon icing sugar
 - 6 teaspoons jelly crystals (any flavour you like)
 - ½ teaspoon baking soda

- EQUIPMENT
- Bowls
 - Measuring spoons
 - teaspoon

- EXPERIMENT
1. Measure ingredients into a small bowl using the correct measuring equipment.
 2. Mix them well.
 3. Taste a small amount at a time.

RESULTS: How does the mixture feel on your tongue? Is it too sweet? Too sour? Would different flavours be sweeter? React differently?

ARTWORK BY JASMINE SEYMOUR © THE CHILDREN'S BOOK COUNCIL OF AUSTRALIA

Each year since 1945 the Children's Book Council of Australia has brought children and books for Book Week.

During this time schools and libraries spend one glorious week celebrating books and Australian children's authors and illustrators. Teachers and librarians create colourful displays, develop activities, run competitions and tell stories relating to a theme to highlight the importance of reading. You will often see parades with students dressed as their favourite book character.

Which book do you think will win?

Do Your kids like to play video games? Would they like to invent their own?

Do you have a budding game designer at home?

Our Game On workshops use a program called MakeCode Arcade developed by Microsoft. You can find this freely available on the internet. There are many fantastic tutorials, ideas, videos, and lessons. The community that uses the website, uploads their own content to show what can be done and how to do it, are very encouraging.

You'll find the website here - <https://arcade.makecode.com/>

There are tutorials for for the absolute beginner to those ready to try adding their code to some hardware, this is a great place to learn more about game design.

Another good online platform, also developed by Microsoft, is the Micro:bit website, which you can find here - <https://makecode.microbit.org/>

The games, tutorials, ideas and courses on there can be used with a microbit device, which is a great way to learn about robotics as well as coding. These little devices are a cheaper way to get started and are available to purchase online.

We have just completed the first Game On workshop series and have received fantastic feedback from our participants! Our next series of this same workshop will begin Thursday afternoon on the 4th August. If you have a budding game designer, you should definitely book them in. Participants are expected to attend the whole series of 6 weekly sessions between 4/8/22-8/9/22. There are only 6 spots, so make sure to select 'follow' Gawler Public Library on Eventbrite to be notified.

Here are five good reasons to take children to the library today:

Regular library visits inevitably lead to more reading. And reading is brain food!

Research shows that reading actually aids in brain development, especially in your child's first five years of life. When kids are read to, their brain cells are literally turned on, and existing links among brain cells are strengthened and new cell links are formed.

Reading is also one of the best activities to provide the foundational language and literacy skills your child needs to succeed. And let's not forget how reading aloud connects us -- reader and listener -- in a very intimate way. When we read to aloud to kids, we send them this message: You are important. This time is for you.

When you visit the library, you can expose your children to more books and magazines than you can afford to buy.

Sure, you can take your kids to the children's section of a nearby bookstore but at the library, you can haul out as much as you can carry, turn your books back in as soon as they're read, and take home a whole new pile.

Further, the "casual discovery" nature of a library -- browsing without pressure to buy -- allows kids to be serendipitous. There's no predicting what might catch their fancy, but, whatever it is, they can "test drive" it at low risk.

Your local children's librarian can recommend books that you may not know of or think to suggest, broadening their tastes and expanding their minds and vocabularies.

Library time is active, not passive. Today's youngest library patrons engage -- with books and magazines, with librarians, and with other kids. Libraries offer regular children's programs that make stories come to life. (Think puppets, crafts, and animated storytellers.)

Owning a library card teaches kids responsibility.

As card-carrying library patrons, young kids learn about treating with care things that belong to others. When a kid checks out books in his own name, he feels trustworthy.

FAMILY READING

Magic

Read this to yourself. Read it silently.

Don't move your lips. Don't make a sound.

Listen to yourself. Listen without hearing anything.

What a wonderfully weird thing huh?

NOW MAKE THIS PART LOUD!

SCREAM IT IN YOUR MIND!

DROWN EVERYTHING OUT.

Now, hear a whisper. A tiny whisper.

Now, read this next line with your best crotchety-old man voice:

"Hello there, sonny. Does your town have a post office?"

Awesome!

Who was that?

Whose voice was that?

It sure wasn't yours!

How do you do that?

How?

Must be magic.

He feels responsible. He feels more like a member of his community. A child's first library card is an early rite of passage.

So get your child a library card -- and underscore its importance. Take a photo of the moment. Go out for ice cream to celebrate.

Even better, go home and open a book.

Board Games of the Past

Is designed for 8 year olds to adults. Five board games from the State Library collection have been enlarged and printed onto tablecloths. Each game tells a story about people, places and events in South Australia's history, providing some insights into Australia's life in the past.

Drop into either of our libraries between the 9th and 16th July to play.

ROALD DAHL Treasure Hunt

Come and hunt for the Roald Dahl characters hidden in the library. Unscramble the clues and fill in the Golden Ticket. Each correct Golden Ticket submitted goes in the draw to win a prize.

The same 9 characters will be hiding at both our libraries between July 16th - 23rd.

Pick up one of our fun Take & Make activity bags during the school holidays. make your own Snakes and Ladders game with the DIY Board Game bag, or get creative with Chocolate Slime, a BFG Dream Jar and more in our Roald Dahl bag. Only while stocks last.
